Stellar Repair For Word

When a user either forgot to save a document, or the document itself became corrupted, this software will be able to restore that document to its original state. The user should have their own Microsoft Word installed, and the program will help it to retrieve a file using all Windows OS functions available for error recovery. If your file has a file extension of .docx, .odt, .doc, or .docm, this software should be able to recover it. It searches through all files on the hard drive or in a specified directory. Conclusion: There was a lot to choose between, but I think this program is still the absolute best I've seen. It is very easy to use, and even though there are not a lot of options to customize, it is still very powerful. And the price is very reasonable. The developers also offer a 30 day money back guarantee, which is highly valued by many users.

Q: Mvc 5 redirect to action with parameter I have a method in a controller which returns a view with parameters: [HttpPost]

public ActionResult Carica(int id) { var s = db.Crediti.FirstOrDefault(v => v.Id_Cliente == id); if (s == null) { return RedirectToAction("Index", "Stato"); } return View(s); }

But when I try to use this with a ajax request it gives an error message: "No HTTP resource was found that matches the request URI "." A: Your controller action can't just be called Carica; It must be called Carica(int). You're naming the action with the name Carica, which conflicts with the other overload of Action. Charles Robert Ashbee Charles Robert Ashbee (28 November 1840 – 28 July 1907) was an English businessman who became "the most far-reaching experimenter in motor-vehicles before the First World War". Ashbee was born in Barking, Middlesex, the son of a warehouseman, and educated at Marlborough College, where he began to develop a love of mechanics. At the age of 18 he became a partner in a small engineering works at Grays, Essex.

However, shortly afterwards he returned to the East End, where he was employed by the firm of Messrs. Rowden, Gurney and Company, whose workshops were in Whitechapel, London. There he developed a collapsible limousine, which was run on one cylinder. He formed a partnership with the retired colonel Thomas and, to enable him to obtain financial backing, they built their model for an estimated £1000 to raise a £2000 subscription from friends and acquaintances. The vehicle, the "Automatic Car" or

"Ashbee Car", was demonstrated at the 1862 International Exhibition and so impressed visitors that the manufacturer, the Parisian carriage and motor car builder Lemercier, sent special fittings for the model. Two weeks later Ashbee returned to St Paul's Cathedral to give a paper on the subject and Lemercier promised to take the Automatic Car to America to publicise it
